

What Does God Say About Justice?

By Janet Proodian

As we see the current state of America, our hearts are grieved and, of course, we are compelled to pray. But we must be mindful HOW we pray, not being swayed by cultural influences, but rather pray the heart of the Kingdom. (2 Chron. 7:14)

Laws of society are created to protect citizens and serve as a deterrent against criminal acts, but laws can never change the heart of man to love. Only the righteousness of God, imputed to man upon salvation and the grace of the Holy Spirit can turn the heart of man from wickedness to rightness. We must be mindful how we pray.

In the Bible, the word “justice”, when translated into Greek or Hebrew, is either the word “righteousness” or “judgment”. Justice, then, is what God judges to be right. In God’s sight, there is no justice apart from righteousness. To cry out for justice, is to ask God to bring judgment on anything that is not according to His righteousness. We must be mindful how we pray.

Jonah preferred judgment on the Ninevites because of their injustice, but God, in His mercy, sent a message of warning against their wickedness that led to repentance. When God saw that they turned from their evil ways, He relented from the disaster that He had said He would bring upon them, and He did not do it. (Jonah 3:10)

It’s time for the church to speak truth and reveal the righteousness of God. Rather than join with the world to cry out for “social justice” and “unity” in our cities (for what fellowship does light have with darkness? 2 Cor. 6:14), we must pray for unity in the CHURCH and REPENTANCE in our cities. We must pray for a conviction of wickedness, that the righteousness of God be revealed to lead to repentance and salvation.

The “social justice” of fairness, kindness, and love our hearts are longing for is unattainable by the laws and systems of men. What we long for can only be manifest through repentance and salvation, which aligns the heart of man with the heart of God and HIS righteousness. We must be mindful how we pray. Pray that the church will be bold in this hour to speak God’s truth, reveal His righteousness and preach repentance. May God be merciful to us.

ABOUT THE MINISTRY

Dr. John Proodian is a former University Professor and his passion is to equip the saints for ministry and to see the love of Jesus manifest in the lives of others through healing, signs, and wonders. John's passion is to activate the Word, while proclaiming the Word, enabling people to step into the moment by faith and encounter the healing power of Jesus.

John is so grateful to regularly see the lame walk, the blind see, and many other miracles by the power and love of God as formerly he saw few miracles. If John can now lay hands on the sick and see them recover (Mark 16) than anyone can.

John and his wife Dr. Janet Proodian who is a professional singer, former University Professor, and prophetic minister, are graduates of Randy Clark's Global School of Ministry and have been in full time ministry for many years being mentored and ordained by world renowned author, professor, and healing evangelist Dr. James Maloney of Dove on the Rise International.

John is the author of Accelerated Healing and is a full time traveling evangelist with Dove on the Rise International sent to proclaim and release the Kingdom of God in signs, wonders, creative miracles, prophetic ministry, and healing throughout many nations of the world. They have been featured on Sid Roth’s It’s Supernatural, TBN, and Daystar.
